Preface What follows are my lecture notes for a first course in differential equations, taught at the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology.

Introduction to Differential Equations

A differential equation is a mathematical equation that relates some function with its derivatives. In applications, the functions usually represent physical quantities, the derivatives represent their rates of change, and the equation defines a relationship between the two.

Differential equation - Wikipedia

Sturm–Liouville theory is a theory of a special type of second order linear ordinary differential equations. Their solutions are based on eigenvalues and corresponding eigenfunctions of linear operators defined in terms of second-order homogeneous linear equations.

Ordinary differential equation - Wikipedia

A one semester first course on differential equations, aimed at engineering students. Prerequisite for the course is the basic calculus sequence.

I have scanned this paper into image files so it is available to read and print. I have created an Adobe pdf of all 7 pages (345KB) (recommended if you have Acrobat reader which you can download for free from Adobe), and also the same scans (of about fax quality) as GIFs linked into html pages (about 60-90K per page, viewable from a browser and printable from an image viewing / editing program).
